DEBT LIMIT CONSIDERATIONS

Overview of Bond Capacity

Washington State has a statutory and constitutional debt limit. The state cannot issue any bonds in which the debt service on these bonds, when added to the debt service on existing bonds, would exceed 7 percent of a three-year average of general state revenues under the statutory limitation and 9 percent under the constitutional limit. Changes to the statutory and constitutional debt limit calculations in 2003 and 2005 effectively make the constitutional limit the constraining limit. Bond-financed appropriations and bond authorizations in the short term impact the debt limit and bond capacity for several years into the future.

The new bond-supported capital budget appropriation capacity based on current interest rate and revenue assumptions, and other variables, is approximately $1.93 billion for the 2007-09 biennium. In addition, there is $219.4 million of Gardner-Evans higher education bond capacity remaining for the 2007-09 biennium, as well as Columbia River Water Supply debt capacity authorized in the 2005-07 biennium.
